$1,000 Loss by Burglary

The Bargain Store at 132 West Front Street was broken into last night and clothing valued in excess of $1,000 was taken.

Taken were women's leather coats, sweaters, mens pants, light and heavy winter coats. An inventory hadn't been completed this morning.

An employee at the store said the thieves had apparently "cashed the store" and did not "take anything" cheap. She said they were selective in the sizes of clothing taken.

The building was entered by breaking a side window. Drops of blood were found. Lights were on in the store during the night.

Windows Damaged By Shot

Vandals were busy last night on Halloween.

Windows in Siketon business places were damaged by BB shots last night, police reported. Windows damaged included Penneys, Joyner's Liquor Store, Grabers, Woolworth and Lewis Furniture.

Vulgar words were also written on businesses' windows throughout the city.

James Tanner, 1911 Indiana, reported "God is dead" was painted on the side of a van parked at his house between 11 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. in black paint.

Four tires on a KMPL station wagon were slashed and ruined while the vehicle was parked at 669 Park.

Police also reported a brick was thrown through a window at Siketon Lumber Company.

Nixon Moves to Lessen U.S. Latin Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has scrapped the ambitious goals of the Alliance for Progress in favor of a policy that will lower substantially the United States profile in Latin America.

Issuing his long-awaited Latin American policy statement Friday night, Nixon said the future United States role in the interAmerican alliance will be that of a partner rather than a leader.

Nixon indicated his new policy would treat all Latin governments — democracies and dictatorships alike — as equals.

"We must deal realistically with governments in the interAmerican system as they are," he said.

Hijacker Caught in Church

ROME (AP) — The youthful gunman who carried out the world's longest air hijacking — from California to Rome — was captured in a little country chapel today, nearly five hours after the hijacked jetliner landed in Rome.

Rome police identified their captive as Rafael Minichiello, who was charged by federal authorities in New York with air piracy, kidnapping and interference with commercial aircraft.

The hijacker had flown 6,900 miles in a five-stage journey across the United States, the Atlantic Ocean and Western Europe. He was found this morning in the Sanctuary of Divine Love near the Appian Way, about six miles outside Rome, just as 500 policemen were about to give up their manhunt.

At Rome police headquarters, Minichiello was questioned for about 45 minutes by detectives. He emerged looking calm, his hands no longer manacled.

After a meeting with Rome Police Chief Giuseppe Parlato, Minichiello was brought before reporters. He smiled and said,

"Aw, go home." "Why'd you do it?" a newsmen asked. He turned and said, "Why did I do it? I don't know."

Police said they would continue questioning the youth. A priest at the sanctuary said he signaled the hijacker's presence to police after noticing a young man acting suspiciously during the morning Mass on the Roman Catholic holy day of All Saints Day.

The priest, Don Pasquale Silla, vice rector of the sanctuary, said the hijacker stood out in the crowd of 2,000 because he was wearing a checked Bermuda shorts. "Hey paian (countryman)," the youth was quoted as saying, "why are you arresting me?"

The Pentagon said Minichiello is an Italian-born U.S. Marine who was decorated for gallantry in the Vietnam war. His mother lives in Seattle, Wash., and his father lives in Naples. Today is his 20th birthday.

Minichiello, a lance corporal, was listed as AWOL from the Marine Corps Thursday when he failed to appear to face charges at a general court-martial in Camp Pendleton, Calif., the FBI reported. He had been accused of breaking and entering a post exchange at Camp Pendleton.

Crew members aboard the Trans World Airlines Flight 85 described the hijacker as a gentlemanly madman.

"He seemed to have strong suicidal tendencies," said crew Capt. Donald Cook of New York. "He apparently wanted to come back here and fight somebody and die here."

The youth "claimed he had been cheated by the Marines out of some of his pay," Cook said, "and that in order to get even with them he robbed the PX and was caught and court-martialed and didn't want to go to jail."

The intercontinental drama began at 4:42 a.m. Friday when a young man commandeered the plane en route to San Francisco from Los Angeles and ordered the pilot to fly to New York.

When told there was not enough fuel aboard to make the cross-country flight, the gunman — armed with a rifle — agreed to a refueling stop in Denver, Colo.

At Denver, three stewardesses and the 30 passengers were freed, but three crewmen and a fourth stewardess flew on to New York with the hijacker.

The craft put down for refueling at New York's John F. Kennedy Airport, but the hijacker got jittery and ordered the fueling operation halted. He fired a shot into the ceiling of the cockpit but did not seriously damage the plane. Two supervisory pilots with qualifications for making an overseas flight were added to the crew, and the hijacker ordered an immediate departure.

The Boeing 707 took off for the airport at Bangor, Maine, refueled there and went to Shannon, Ireland. It took on more fuel in a 26-minute stopover at Shannon, then continued to Rome.

The young gunman called for the police chief to come aboard the plane unarmed and have a car waiting outside. He seized Peter Gull, chief of the airport police, and they drove away in a car, followed by another car full of policemen.

When Gull and the hijacker were outside the city, the young man stopped the car and bolted into the dawn-lit countryside.

The priest who called police to the sanctuary said Minichiello almost got away. Don Silla said the first time he alerted two policemen to the youth's presence, they told him his dress did not fit the description and walked away. Only after another priest reported having seen the youth dressed differently earlier did the police take the matter seriously, Don Silla said.

When Minichiello left the church, he was wearing a white shirt and blue trousers. But he earlier was reported wearing plaid Bermuda shorts in the chapel. Some reports said he apparently had taken off his trousers and was wearing undershorts.

Chief Arthur Bruce and Minister in Heated Exchange at Police Station

Police Chief Arthur Bruce charged the minister was "unruly and unreasonable." The Rev. Harold Lohrman, "unruly and unreasonable," the Rev. Mr. Lohrman said "grabbed me and tore

Chief Bruce said: "He (Pastor Lohrman) came in (the police station) like a bull."

Chief Bruce was asked "Did he attack you?" The chief replied: "Yes, he did."

Chief Bruce said the pastor also made "pretty astounding statements last night." The chief said Pastor Lohrman was charged with resisting arrest and interfering with a police officer.

The Rev. Mr. Lohrman posted $100 bond last night and is scheduled to appear in city court Thursday night.

Chief Bruce said the pastor Barketta. He said the officer told "didn't act like a minister" and him he had been instructed to if he had "probably nothing bring them in."

The minister said he was informed his son would be held until today.

"So I asked the police chief what the charges were and he said they didn't have any and that they were being held on investigation," the minister said.

The pastor said the grocery store owner refused to sign a complaint. Pastor Lohrman said he was told again the juvenile boys would be held overnight for investigation.

"I asked if this was necessary?" the pastor said. He said the chief answered "Yes," and became "very angry."

"He (the chief) threatened to arrest me and Mrs. Lohrman. I asked on what grounds?" the minister said.

He said Chief Bruce grabbed

his arm and applied a three-quarter Nelson hold.

"He said he was going to throw me in jail," the Rev. Mr. Lohrman added. "He threatened to arrest Mrs. Lohrman and she was just standing there."

Pastor Lohrman said the youth driving was released, but said his son was held overnight with "no charges and no complaint."

The pastor continued: "I used to be a stockade chaplain. I've never seen anything like this in the army. It took 51 years to get arrested, but I finally made it. He (Chief Bruce) had no right to do this. I didn't resist in any way, shape or form. He was going to throw me physically in the clink for asking why he (the pastor's son) was to be held when no complaints had been signed."

A report at the police station said the pastor's son had to be "bodily brought" to the police station and the father came to the station and proceeded to "create a very unhealthy situation for both boy and father."

Myers' Death Called Suicide

EAST PRAIRIE -- David Joe Myers, 25, came to his death when he pulled the trigger of a gun he pointed at his temple while riding in the car of a brother-in-law yesterday.

The 32 - caliber pistol, which authorities said he produced, discharged a bullet which entered near an eye and emerged by an ear.

His death was called a suicide by Coroner Elgin McKille. Myers, an East Prairie farm laborer, died after a Russian roulette exhibition of gun play in which he pointed the gun at two other persons before turning it on himself with a fatal result.

McKille said that the death was strictly a family affair and there would be no inquest. According to Sheriff W. J. (Pedro) Simmons, Myers asked a brother-in-law, Wiley Warren, 40, Woodland Mills, near Union City, Tenn., to drive him to East Prairie, to visit his family.

He gave this account after questioning Warren and another passenger in the car: The two men stopped at a tavern near Cairo, where Myers asked Ann Fithen, Bardwell, Ky., to accompany them.

An argument began as to whether Myers was to be taken to East Prairie or the woman to Bardwell first. Myers drew a pistol.

McKille and the sheriff said the gun had only one shell in it after it was examined. Myers was reported to have pointed the gun at the woman and pulled the trigger twice and then snapped the trigger after pointing the weapon at his brother-in-law.

Whether Myers believed the gun to be unloaded was not determined. On the fourth attempt he turned the gun to his temple and pulled the trigger, then slumped over in the seat of the car. The shooting occurred at 1:45 a.m. Friday after three had crossed into Missouri over the Cairo Mississippi river bridge.

Warren stopped at a service station at the intersection of highway 60 and 62 near Wyatt, and called the Mississippi county sheriff, who ordered Myers taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital, where he was dead on arrival.

Prior to the shooting, Myers had gone to the Warren home Thursday between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m., according to the investigating officers. The two men then left to go to East Prairie in Warren's car and at 9:30 p.m. stopped at Dovers tavern near Cairo. The woman who accompanied them was a tavern employee who asked to be taken to her home in Bardwell.

It was after the trio reached the bridge that Myers began to insist that he be taken home first. He produced the pistol, after an argument.

Myers was on parole according to Sheriff Simmons, after being charged with assault in Charleston.

Services for Myers were held today in East Prairie.

False Arrest Suit on Scott Circuit Court Civil Docket for November Term

BENTON -- A civil suit charging false arrest against Dolph Webb Jr., chief of the Siketon fire department, is on the docket for the November term of circuit court. The suit stems from an arrest Webb allegedly made while serving as chief of police at Charleston.

L. D. Joslyn of Charleston, attorney for Mrs. Avis Lane, who owns a farm near Charleston, said the suit seeks $5,000 in punitive damages from Webb.

Joslyn said the woman was "bodily dragged" from a business place by Webb and four other men. He said Webb wanted to ask Mrs. Lane questions about "threatening the life" of an ex-convict, who was in the tavern. He said Mrs. Lane told Webb she would talk "right there" and she was then forcibly taken from the premises to jail, where he charged she remained "half the night."

Joslyn said his client suffers from a bronchial condition and required hospital confinement after being in jail "without medicine."

Joslyn said his client was later acquitted of an offense stemming from the incident. He said police had "been called" to the tavern because the ex-convict was "fearful" for his life.

Fire Chief Webb refused to comment on the issue this morning, but added he had insurance covering police brutality and false arrest with the National Police Officer's Association.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
THE ICE IS BROKEN - GALS GOING TO ANTARCTICA

Women in New England who already are shivering at the thought of another oncoming winter may find the latest scientific news slightly incredulous. Willingly and cheerfully, some of their sex, six in number, plan to spend several months in the frozen wastes of Antarctica.

The chance to pursue pioneering research in the land of the penguins is their primary motivation in going there. There is a secondary satisfaction, too. They are the first American women to be allowed to live for any length of time in the largest male sanctuary left on this planet. No more can Antarctica be considered a "no-woman's land."

Four of the women are from the Institute of Polar studies at Ohio State University. Another is a biologist from Utah State University while the sixth is a reporter for the Detroit News. Actually, they won't be the first females to get near the South Pole (not counting the female penguins, of course). Russia already allows a few women to work at its scientific bases in Antarctica. In 1935, the wife of a Norwegian whaling captain is known to have stepped ashore - the first of her sex to do so. Twelve years later, the wives of two private American explorers became the first women to live through the long winter night there. Ever since, except for two airline stewardesses who stopped briefly in McMurdo Sound a few years ago, American gals have been blocked from breaking the polar ice.

That policy was set by the National Science Foundation which has maintained that the all-male base camps had no facilities for women. Persistence finally has paid off, however, and the female scientists now are free to study the typography, and penguin life, the weather and the glacial formations peculiar to the southern continent. Once published, their polar reports (both scientific and otherwise) should make interesting reading - especially by the fireside that New England women, and men, so closely cling to in the wintertime.

RESTRAINT NEEDED
From the Bluffs (Pa.) Dispatch:
Members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association have been urged by ANPA President William F. Schmick, Publisher of F. Schmick, Publisher of the Baltimore Sun papers, to battle the "headless fourth branch of government" - the so-called independent agencies.

The influence of the Federal regulatory agencies, whose "proliferation seems to have no end," has "grown beyond comprehension," he explained. Examples of the "fourth branch" are the National Labor Relations Board, Federal Communications Commission, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and Federal Trade Commission. There are 60 or more such agencies, large and small.

He added, "The organization of these agencies challenges the most fundamental concept of our governmental system - the separation of powers. The challenge comes because they possess a combination of legislative, executive, and judicial authority, a circular kingdom of power and glory."

He stated that the failure of Congress to spell out its intent exactly has permitted a usurpation of power by the regulatory agencies and a dangerous point of view has been allowed to develop. This point of view sees the administrative agency free to originate its own policies regardless of congressional intent.

The proper task of government regulation is to be fair, expeditious, impartial and consistent within the laws enacted by the Congress. Congress should insist on the retention of all legislative powers and the complete compliance by regulatory agencies of the policies defined in the legislation.

ERODING HOME OWNERSHIP WITH HOUSING SUBSIDIES
Biggest 'Launch' To Date

Although it is sort of like locking the barn after the horse has been stolen, we note that subsidized low rent public housing is having its impact on the financial problems of county and city governments, and on those remaining private property owners who are fully taxed.

For example, there are 675,000 or more public housing units, and the number is still increasing. Roughly one fourth of these are located in the top 14 cities in terms of population and each city has its proportionate share of the more than 1.5 million children of school age who live in these tax free housing units.

The compensate the local taxing districts, the Federal Housing Act now contributes about $11.00 per child. In New York City the estimated Federal payment for 1967 was $3.6 million, but the estimated expenditure was $76.1 million. The burden of the payment for the difference fell on the owners of private property who are fully taxed.

Now a bill (S.2034) has been introduced in the Senate to contribute $300 annually per low cost housing unit, to the local school districts.

While the effect of this kind of legislation will be to give the local property some relief, a form of discrimination will still exist against the homeowner. He still will be taxed.

Meanwhile the occupant of public housing units is relieved from the element of tax in his housing costs. Where rental income from public housing units is not adequate to pay the operating costs, the federal housing administration steps in and pays the difference. The effect is creating a chaotic condition in private housing. No person in the lower income brackets can afford to own a low cost home. He cannot possibly compete with Uncle Sam as a private home owner, and he is exposed to an added tax burden.

The distorted values have an added impact on substandard housing. The so-called "slum" landlord receives a great deal of blame for housing conditions, not all of which is justified. The cost of maintenance and repairs is all but prohibitive. Even where the landlord goes to expense of rehabilitating a dwelling few tenants have a desire to make an effort to reasonably care for the structure. Some tenants are so destructive that the only defense a landlord has is to make no effort to maintain. As a landlord he is in business competition with subsidized public housing, and, of course, he cannot compete on anywhere even terms.

The housing problem needs a complete revaluation. Public housing is not producing the housing units needed, and private housing is priced and taxed out of the market.

Even the home owner is placed in the unfortunate position of being required to eye government with suspicion, and mount a constant and almost militant guard for the protection of his home. He is assailed by ever higher taxes. Zoning laws which he thought guarded the quality of the neighborhood have become a straightjacket instead. Urban Renewal programs are a potential threat to almost every owner of an older home. The high cost of everything connected with home ownership has hastened the beginning of the shabby look of decay in residential areas. The added burdens of social legislation have a special meaning to the elderly home owner whose debt free dwelling may be his largest single asset.

The impact of public housing on home ownership is not limited to the large metropolitan areas. Single housing units old or new in thousands of small communities can become liabilities for their owners, if the thrust of subsidized public housing continues in its present direction.

Washington Merry-Go-Round
By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--Assistant Capitol Architect Mario Camioli is conducting a backstage campaign to extend the historic west front of the Capitol building. If he succeeds, the architectural combine he once worked for will get more than $2 million in fees.

At age 60, Camioli has largely taken over the duties of the kindly, doddering, 79-year-old Capitol Architect, J. George Stewart.

Camioli has whispered warnings to Congressmen and slipped stories to newsmen that historic chunks of sandstone might fall on some distinguished heads if the west front isn't extended. He has cautioned Congressmen that even the vibrations of jets, flying over the Capitol, could shake down pieces of the building. To emphasize the hazard, he has barred helicopters from operating too close to Capitol Hill.

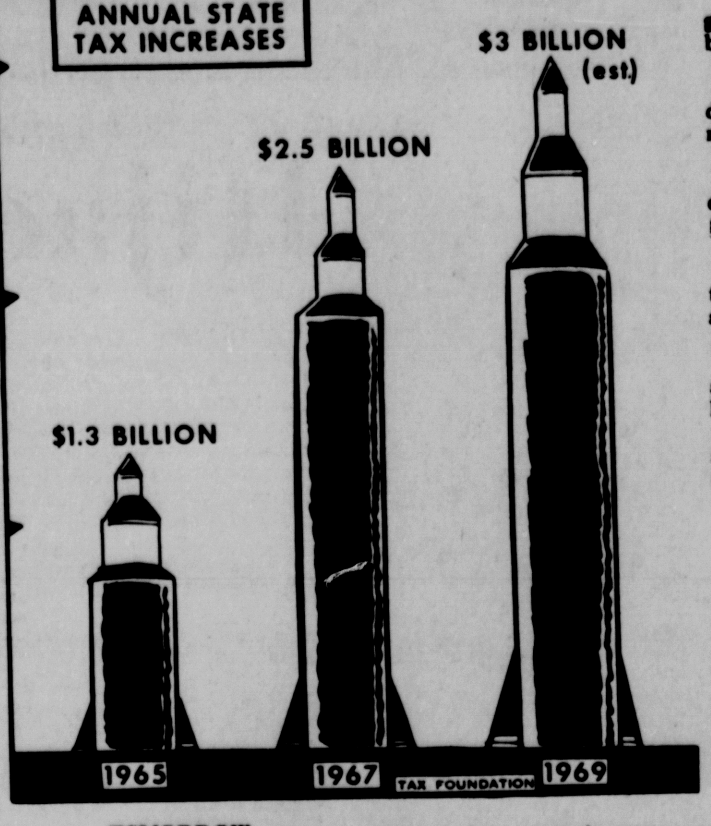

In all his lobbying, however, he has neglected to mention that his former associates will benefit if his warnings are needed.

The talented, Parma-born Camioli says he has never collected a penny from his old bosses-DeWitt, Poor and Shelton-since he joined the government in 1959. But he concedes they have honored him mightily in other ways.

Some of them proposed him, for example, as a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects-the highest honor in the architectural world. Indeed, he sought their support as a Fellow, then pushed construction plans that would bring them high fees.

"I feel my conscience is clear," he told my associate, Leslie Whitten.

The AIA, which turned down Camioli as a Fellow despite his distinguished endorsements, is not fighting the $45 million west front extension as a boondoggle. The architects of the AIA

POLLUTION PROCRUSTINATION
With great fanfare, President Nixon appointed an Environmental Quality Council last May to prepare the grand strategy for keeping our atmosphere, lakes, rivers and streams free from pollution.

The council, whose membership includes Vice President Agnew and six Cabinet officers, has held only one meeting since it was organized. Meanwhile, pollution continues to get worse.

ADS "INDISPENSABLE" TO HEINZ
FOOD ADVERTISERS can do without radio or television, but they cannot exist without newspapers as their basic medium, the advertising and public relations director of the H. J. Heinz Company, told a Philadelphia meeting of newspaper space salesmen recently.

"We have been combatting salesmen's pressure for the use of radio and television," he stated. "They have been affected by the glamour of these media, but we told them a newspaper ad is more effective than 15 minutes of entertainment on television."

"We also told them that you can throw away all other media, but you can't throw away the newspaper as the basic medium of communication. A newspaper ad about Heinz products is an invitation for the housewife to come in and see our goods."

Heinz is in the midst of a $500,000 campaign in 857 dailies.

The campaign is producing outstanding results, as one example American Stores in Philadelphia bought 11 cartons of Betcha Didn't Know...

CONCERN IS NOT ENOUGH
By Jenkin Lloyd Jones

THE IDES OF October have come and gone with much heat but no bloodshed, and there will be a moratorium on the moratorium until the planned two-day demonstrations in November.

There is no question that the demonstrations were large. There is no question that the overwhelming majority of participants were honest, worried citizens who have lost their stomach for an apparently interminable war and yet who have no desire to promote the triumph of Red totalitarianism.

BUT WHILE House Internal Security Committee Chairman Richard Ichord (D-Miss.) may have been a little strong when he damned Moratorium Day as "a propaganda maneuver designed and organized by Communists," so was Time magazine (Oct. 17) also strong when it added quickly, gratuitously and vaguely, "Law-enforcement officers say that the M-Day movement is remarkably free from such influences."

Let's not be naive. Every Communist-line and fellow-traveling organization in America was busting its buttons for the moratorium. Even as the marchers marched the North Vietnamese delegates bluntly told the wives of American prisoners that they wouldn't see their husbands until the last American soldier had been withdrawn and they advised the girls to go home and join the demonstrations.

Well, we do have a lot of concerned people, mainly young people who don't want to go to the war because war is a messy business and, as Joanne Woodward says, it isn't healthy for anybody, particularly children.

But if we holler "Hell No, We Won't Go" long enough we may either buy the idea that the enemy will be so charmed with our reasonableness that he will become a peace-loving, too. Or we must be prepared eventually for total acceptance of his terms.

Inside Labor

INSIDE WHITE HOUSE:
After a Nixon Conference, Labor Chiefs See Wave of Long Strikes Through 1972

By Victor Riesel
Washington, D. C. - On the way out of the White House at high noon, one of the 33 powerful national union chiefs who had just spent two hours with President Nixon, turned to a colleague on labor's high command council and murmured: "Well, looks like one hell of a lot of strikes for the duration."

"The duration" is Richard Nixon's term in office. The climax will come in 1970 when, as one authoritatively informed official said in Pittsburgh the previous day to a visiting newsmen, "there will be one hell of a steel strike." If he is right - and he is a chap with a passionate, albeit, desire for industrial peace - this national steel stoppage will spill over into 1972.

But in the Cabinet room, where the President was flanked by AFL-CIO prexy George Meany and Labor Secretary George Shultz, on the morning of Wednesday, Oct. 29, Richard Nixon was friendly but unbudging. He knew that during the AFL-CIO convention, the AFL-CIO chief he said that "black balance" was coming from the White House. But he had sent Mr. Shultz to the labor leaders with an invitation to come in and visit. He had judged the President though wanted to talk to them about Vietnam - and he did. He thanked them profusely for their support of his Southeast Asian policy. He had a few words for them on a first name basis, and some of them ranging from the General Electric strike to the column's report of plans for the boycotting of Sweden.

He ignored what is generally considered in and out of labor as "infantile leftism" on the part of strike leader Paul Jennings, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) who had called for George Shultz's resignation. The AFL-CIO generally is considered the Executive Council had been insulting reference to Mr. Shultz called together not to declare by IUE house counsel Irving war on Mr. Nixon nor even to Abramson who had told this plan to destruction of GE.

But the President made it end - as they told the President crystal clear: there will be no - these problems synthesize into White House intervention in the explosive pressure from the rank GE strike, no matter how long it and file for lots more money. last; nor in any other stoppage Since a recession is coming and there will be price resistance, the corporate world has decided that it will stand pat.

This means strikes all the way up the line - unless the President intervenes. And on the side of the unions by pressuring the industrialists.

After the President had opened the meeting in the Cabinet room with thanks for labor's foreign policy this administration the White House endorsement; after he and Dr. House will stand aside from the Henry Kissinger said bluntly that collective bargaining table, the there had been no progress at picket lines and the final the Paris negotiations and that conflicts - the strike season is the Russians were out missile-ing on.

There was polite response. But there was no riposte on Judge Clement Haynsworth Jr. The appointment just never was discussed. This is a measure of the relationship. Ann Landers
Drinking Everyone Under The Table Not An Asset

Dear Ann Landers: I am helped our love life much. What dating a very attractive young I do? — Mrs. Cucumbe man. Ed is 21 and has already had three years of college. One thing about him worries me. He can drink everybody in the party under the table and not show it. Last night for example, he had five highballs then switched to a beer. Before the evening was over Ed had finished seven bottles. The other two fellows to be gassed out of their minds, your request 35 cents in coin but Ed was in complete control, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ed is very proud of the way he holds his liquor. I don't think this is anything to be proud of. But since he shows no ill effects, what can I say? He drinks like that almost every night. I am worried about him, Ann, because he usually skips dinner and says he gets all the nourishment he needs from the grain in the alcohol and the malt in the beer. Please check with your medical consultants and tell me what they say. — Ed's Girl

Dear Girl: Ed may be able to tell YOU his drinking is not harmful, but after a few years he'll have to come up with a better story for his liver.

Dear Ann Landers: My grandfather is 79 and very spry. He has always been in good health until last year when he developed a rupture. The doctor said he should have surgery. Grandma is 71 and has always ruled everybody with an iron hand. She says the Bible states clearly that a full life is three score and ten and that Grandma has already had nine years more than he is entitled to. Grandma insists that Grandpa would be going against God's will by having an operation at his age because he would then be trying to get more years than God intended. What can we do about it? K and J

Dear K and J: This decision should be made by the doctor. And since the doc has suggested surgery, Grandpa should have it. Dear Ann Landers: Please print this for the whole family to see. It might set a few people straight.

A close relative of mine and her husband take a trip every year, either to Europe or the Orient. For the past five years they have gathered their three children and their spouses together on the eve of their departure. The purpose — to read their wills aloud.

They go down the list of stocks, bonds, real estate, jewelry — "Five hundred shares of Johnson and Johnson to William. Three hundred shares of Transamerica to Kenneth — my diamond ring goes to Selma, my pearls go to Julia, — etc."

My husband and I travel also, and we have our will made out, but we see no reason for the ritual. Can it be that Mom and Pop are seducing the kids? What do you think? — Washington

Dear Wash: I think there is no harm in reading wills. What bothers ME is why does it bother YOU. You are in no way involved in the "ritual."

Dear Ann Landers: I caught my husband taking some little orange pills on the sly. He said he had a slight kidney infection and hadn't wanted to worry me. I suspect he might have something else — like a social disease. I have had no symptoms but he looks so guilty. I wonder if I might have something. Needless to say this has not

MEMPHIS - Eighteen students from Sikeston, Mo., are among the more than 17,700 students enrolled for fall semester classes at Memphis State University.

This large enrollment, which has more than tripled in the last ten years and more than doubled in the last five years, includes students from 38 foreign countries and 42 of the 50 states plus the District of Columbia. In addition, 81 of Tennessee's 95 counties are represented by students enrolled at Memphis State.

As the University continues its rapid growth, a more intense effort is being made to work with the student body in "units of one." To reach this end of the University College was put into operation to help in a student's orientation to college life during his freshman and sophomore years. The University Counseling Center, staffed by a number of highly - trained psychologists and guidance counselors, is also maintained to make the student's adjustment a more successful one.

The campus physical plant is also growing in proportion to the enrollment. Currently under construction is an engineering building, a mathematics and modern languages facility, two psychology units, a journalism building, a two-unit business administration complex, a physical education facility, an information center, an athletic dressing facility and 126 townhouse apartments for

Throop Leads Homecoming Win

By DAVID McCLARTY
Sikeston — Quarterback selected as the Homecoming Ed Throop paced the Sikeston queen by the football team and Bulldogs back into the victory was crowned at the ceremonies column at Public School following the game in the Senior Stadium last night, passing for High School Cafeteria. Jan three touchdowns in a 26-0 Sargent and Julie Crader were Homecoming victory over chosen alternates to the queen, Jackson Indians. Ed Throop passed for a first

Portageville Wins

PORTAGEVILLE — Coach Jim McKay's Bulldogs defeated the Delta C-7 Chargers here last night by 46-12. This raised the Bulldogs record to 4-4 for the season while Deering remained winless. Portageville took full control as the Chargers were unable to score in the first half. Ken Shumate went across for the Bulldogs first score on a five yard run with the extra point failing. In the second period Mike Barnes passed to Randy Long for 50 yards and a T.D. Stowell Hobbs went in for the two-point conversion. The second score was on a safety of which Johnny Huck tackled Paul Scott in his own endzone for two points. The third score was again a pass to Randy Long from Mike Barnes this time for 30 yards with Lenza Killion running for the two point conversion to make the score at half 24-0.

Portageville's Stowell Hobbs scored on a 3 yard run for the first score of the second half. Lenza Killion again took it in for two points. Rick Foster ran 7 yards for the Bulldogs and he also scored the two point conversion. The first score for the Chargers was a 50 yard pass from Paul Scott to Kevin Williams. The score at the end of the third quarter stood at 40-6.

The fourth showed Deering scoring first on a pass as Paul Scott hit Randal Vaughn for a 30 yard touchdown. For the Bulldogs Randy Long went in from 7 yards out making for the final score of 46-12.

Portageville will travel to Hayti for a Division match. Deering will be idle next week, but in two weeks will be playing at Luxora, Ark.

period touchdown to Mike Shafer, for 32 yards, as the Bulldogs were on their way to rebounding from the 24-7 loss at Cape last week. This touchdown was set up by a fumble recovery by Adolph Prince after Jackson's second play.

Charlie Dye came up with the big run of the night as he broke loose for a 70 yard touchdown in the second period of play. Jerry Taylor added the extra point to make the score at intermission 13-0.

After talking it over, both teams came back and slowed strong defenses as neither team was able to score. Sikeston's defense was led by Mike Harris and Adolph Prince as they teamed to help stop the Indians attack.

In the fourth period of play Sikeston came back to put on the finishing touches with Throop passing for two touchdowns. Mike Shafer, who was pass catching as much as he was running, pulled in the first one from 8 yards out. The kick by Jerry Taylor was wide moving the score to 19-0.

Sikeston ended up with five interceptions with two of these being picked off by senior defensive end Larry Lawrence. The second interception set up the final touchdown from 11 yards out. Larry Lawrence was the target as Throop threaded the needle to hit him in the endzone. Jerry Taylor added the extra point to make for the final score of 26-0.

Sikeston this week went with the two platoon system as boys were moved in and out with the exchange of the football. Dave Dollar played at defensive guard along with Charley Johnson a one of the tackles. Chester Yarber started at the fullback position as Turner Marshall was playing linebacker. Adolph Prince and Mike Harris were the defensive tackles for the game as they usually go both ways. It proved to work as the Sikeston eleven hardly got tired as they scored twice in the fourth. Also this system lets some boys who are going to be playing next year get some experience.

Throop passed for 121 yards and three touchdowns as he had good protection to have time to find his receivers. The running game showed Charlie Dye leading the attack as Sikeston gained 168 yards on the ground. Jackson rushed for 108 yards, most of this coming in the second half. Sikeston was on the lower end in the first down department as Jackson had 8 to the Bulldogs 6. Again the final score was 26-0.

Sikeston will be idle this next week, but will be preparing for the Poplar Bluff game in two weeks. To win this encounter the Bulldogs will have to stop Hosie Moss as he has scored 5 touchdowns in each of his last two games.

TURNER MARSHALL (32) the big fullback for Sikeston, plows through Jackson's Stanley Bowers (62) in the Sikeston's Homecoming game last night. Coming to help out are Jerry Taylor (71), Dave Dollar (65), and Jerry Ogles (80). Sikeston won the Northern Division contest, 26-0.

Moss Pressures Clayton

CHARLESTON — Hosie Moss turned in another five touchdown performance as he led

Poplar Bluff to a 42-0 victory over coach Howard Suters Bluejays here last night in the final home match for the host this season.

Moss scored five against Dexter last week and now is pressuring Malden's Don Clayton for the district scoring championship with 114 points to Clayton's 138.

Moss rushed for 274 yards and went for 10, 11, 72, 77 and 64 yard touchdowns. Steve Hicks got the Mules only other TD as he intercepted a pass and carried 40 yards for the score.

John Greene and Joe West ran for two point conversions. The Mules will host Blytheville, Ark. next week before ending its season hosting Sikeston.

Charleson ill go to Cape next week before ending its season at Jackson.

fullback carried the ball for the two extra points. Sikeston's Curtis Bean broke loose for a 49 yard run to score the touchdown for the Bulldogs. The try for two was a quarterback sneak which missed by a couple of inches. The final score being 8-6.

Cape Rolls On

KENNETT — The Cape Central Tigers defeated the Kennett Indians last night 41-0. Cape Central was led by a new quarterback, Danny Bickings, as Tom Zimmer sit this one out.

Eugene Holloway scored in the first period on a 6 yard run to make the score 7-0 after Carl Gross added the extra point.

In the second quarter Central scored four times, the first was a 22 yard run by Richard Mitten. Safety Larry Ross returned a punt 60 yards for the second score. Gene Dewrock intercepted a pass and ran it back 25 yards for the third score of the period. Danny Bickings took one in from the 18 yard line for the final score of the half. Carl Gross added the extra point on all four touchdowns to make the score at half 35-0.

The only score of the second half was in the third as Danny Bickings hit Mark Hogan on a 6 yard pass for the score. The try for the two-point conversion failed making for the final score of 41-0.

Cape will host the Charleston Bluejays Thursday night for a Division match. Kennett will have Dexter as their guests for a non-conference game.

Devils Tame Cats

By DAVID McCLARTY
CHAFFEE — Charlie Vickrey passed for two touchdowns as he led the Red Devils to a 28-0 win over the Dexter Bearcats. This raised the Red Devil's record to 7-1 overall and 4-1 in their Division.

Charlie Vickrey hit Steve Rogers in the end zone for a 9 yard touchdown play for their 1st score, after a drive from their own 45 yard line. Mike Ballard added the extra point to make the score 7-0 at the end of the first period.

In the second quarter both of Chaffee's touchdowns came off of interceptions being ran back all the way. Mike Ballard picked off the first one as he ran it back 32 yards for the score. Steve Rogers got the second one and took it for 35 yards and the score. Charlie Vickrey ran for the two point conversion on the first T.D. and Ballard kicked for the second one to make the score at half 22-0.

The only score of the second half was a Charlie Vickrey pass to Steve Duniphan and the kick failed making the final score 28-0.

Passing prevailed for the Red Devil's as Vickrey passed for 187 yards of the 232 yards total. Dexter was held to just 11 yards in the first half, but came back in the second half to get 85 as Chaffee was letting the bench see some action. Chaffee led in first downs as they got nine to Dexter's eight.

Next week Chaffee will host Caruthersville in their Homecoming game. Dexter will be traveling to Kennett for a non-loop conference game.

Active Trading On Missouri Cotton Markets

HAYTI - Trading was active on local cotton markets in Missouri last week according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's classing office.

Demand was strong and the volume of sales increased. Prices were firm and ranged from 50 to 70 points above CCC loan rates on the bulk of the purchases.

Buyers continued selecting cotton with mikes readings below 5.3 in most purchases. Gin yard prices for cottonseed were firm and averaged $38 per ton.

The harvest advances at peak proportions. Backlogs of seed cotton built up on most gin yards and some ginned around the clock in an effort to keep up.

The classing office has classed 210,000 samples for farmers through October 24. Grades were slightly lower and staples were a little shorter on samples classed at the office than in the previous week. 63 percent of the samples classed graded Strict Low Middling and higher and 76 percent had staples of 1 3/32 and longer. The proportion of samples miking above 4.9 decreased for the first time this season. Thirty-seven percent miked 5.0 and higher compared with forty-one percent in this category last week. Breaking strength was slightly lower and averaged 83,000 pounds per square inch.

Theoretically, the temperature of absolute zero is approximately 459.7 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit.

Cotton Returns To Area

CHARLESTON - After a three year period of being unable to raise cotton because of the weather conditions Mississippi county farmers feel that they are back in the market now with most producers harvesting from a bale and one half to two bales per acre this season.

They feel that cotton again is in big demand and, of course, are urging everyone to purchase 100 per cent cotton garments in order to guarantee this demand.

An increase in the cotton allotments will be forthcoming for farmers next year but no figures have been received for state and county allotments.

About a million acres increase is forecast for the national figure.

To date Peoples Gin Company has ginned more than 1,600 bales.

Eagleton

Joins in

Farm Bill

WASHINGTON - Senator Eagleton today joined 12 of his colleagues in introducing a new Agricultural Stabilization Act to succeed the present farm program which expires in 1970.

Senator Eagleton said, "This legislation represents more than the personal efforts of a few Senators who are concerned about the future of American agriculture. It represents the judgment of 22 major farm organizations as to the kind of farm program which will help assure American farmers a fair return in the marketplace."

"After nine months in office, the Administration has yet to come forth with concrete proposals for necessary improvements in the farm program, so it is up to us to act," said Eagleton. "This Coalition bill will surely be modified and refined in the months ahead as a result of committee testimony and Senate debate, but it represents a major and constructive step in the direction of more rational and fairer farm programs."

Some of the bill's provisions: Cotton. Under the bill introduced today, the cotton program would remain unchanged.

Wheat. The bill provides authority for export certificates between 90 and 65 per cent of parity. It limits the amount of "projected yield" can be adjusted as a result of natural disasters, and provides that one-half of wheat certificate value can be paid at time of sign-up.

Soybeans. The bill would also authorize an acreage diversion program for soybeans when total soybean stocks as of August 31 exceed 150 million bushels for 15 per cent of the previous utilization, whichever is less. On the basis of 1969 stocks, this would mean a diversion of two to three million acres of soybeans in 1970.

Consumer protection reserves. The bill provides for three types of reserves to be held respectively by the Commodity Credit Corporation, by producers under an extended loan program, and by producers under three-year extended loan agreements. CCC sales for unrestricted domestic use would be prohibited at less than parity if stocks were below reserve levels.

DR. WALTER HEIDLAGE, program coordinator of the extension environmental health program, confers with Dr. Carl J. Marienfeld, director of the environmental program on birth defect returns from Scott County swine producers the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Birth Defects in Swine Studied

BENTON - Fifteen thousand Missouri farmers are helping researchers at the University of Missouri determine the effects of the environment on human and animal health, says Tom B. Stroup, Scott Co. extension director.

Farmers are dependent on the environment. To produce a bumper crop, farmers know that the environment must include sufficient rainfall, sunshine, and nutrients in the soil. A change in this environment can result in sick or weak plants.

The same is true of animals. Good feed and water are only a part of the environment necessary to produce and maintain healthy pigs.

In the last five years, it has been proven that substances in the environment can cause birth defects. For example, a sleeping pill, thalidomide, taken by a mother at a certain time during pregnancy was found to cause birth defects.

Many Missouri farmers have seen the harmful affect on animal health when high concentrations of nitrates occur in drinking water.

To find answers scientists are studying birth in swine. Farmers are cooperating by reporting the number or birth defects that occur in their farrowings.

David Kelley, area livestock agent at Portageville, is coordinator of the project in the Bootheel.

So far, farmers have submitted three reports on the number of pigs farrowed and the number of birth defects.

The next report period in October will cover the farrowings during the spring and summer months.

If every farmer submits information on baby pigs, it will be another step toward securing a way of preventing birth defects in humans.

According to latest measurements, the earth is between two and five billion years old.

"All you hear about is war. Where is God?"

We've hardly known a time when there wasn't war, or rumor of war.

And with the difficult ideological problems of today's world, the issue of war versus peace is more complicated than ever.

One thing is certain. God is impartial in his caring for peace.

But how do you search for peace—in yourself, and in the world?

You may find some surprising approaches developing in your church or synagogue.

And with your help, your place of worship can, after all, become an important voice in establishing our country's moral position in matters that profoundly affect every one of us.

You're only one person, it's true. But you don't have to be alone in your beliefs.

And it's beliefs like yours that can change the world.

Army Soldiers and National Guardsmen

SKILLED ARMY RESCUE FORCES ANSWER THE CALL

—Hurricane Camille—

MISSISSIPPI NATIONAL GUARDSMEN carry a patient, evacuated from a hospital in devastated Gulfport, down the ramp of a cargo aircraft. Army National Guard units, called to state active duty, assisted civil authorities in the evacuation of more than 700 patients from Veterans Administration hospitals in Gulfport and Biloxi, Miss. Approximately 3,100 Army National Guardsmen from four states (Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Virginia) were on the scene to help.

A STRANDED FLOOD VICTIM is hustled to an Army helicopter for evacuation from a storm-torn area in Nelson County, Va. Army helicopter pilots, accompanied by medical teams from Davison Army Airfield, Fort Belvoir, Va., continuously landed on mountain tops, valley floors and in creek beds to rescue stranded people whose homes were battered by flash floods brought on by hurricane Camille.

MANNING RADIOS and other communications equipment, Army National Guardsmen aided coordination of the massive relief operations at this Civil Defense Headquarters near Gulfport, Miss., in Harrison County. The Army provided communications personnel and equipment to support the Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) in Thomasville, Ga., and dispatched six communications teams to support the OEP field office in Gulfport.

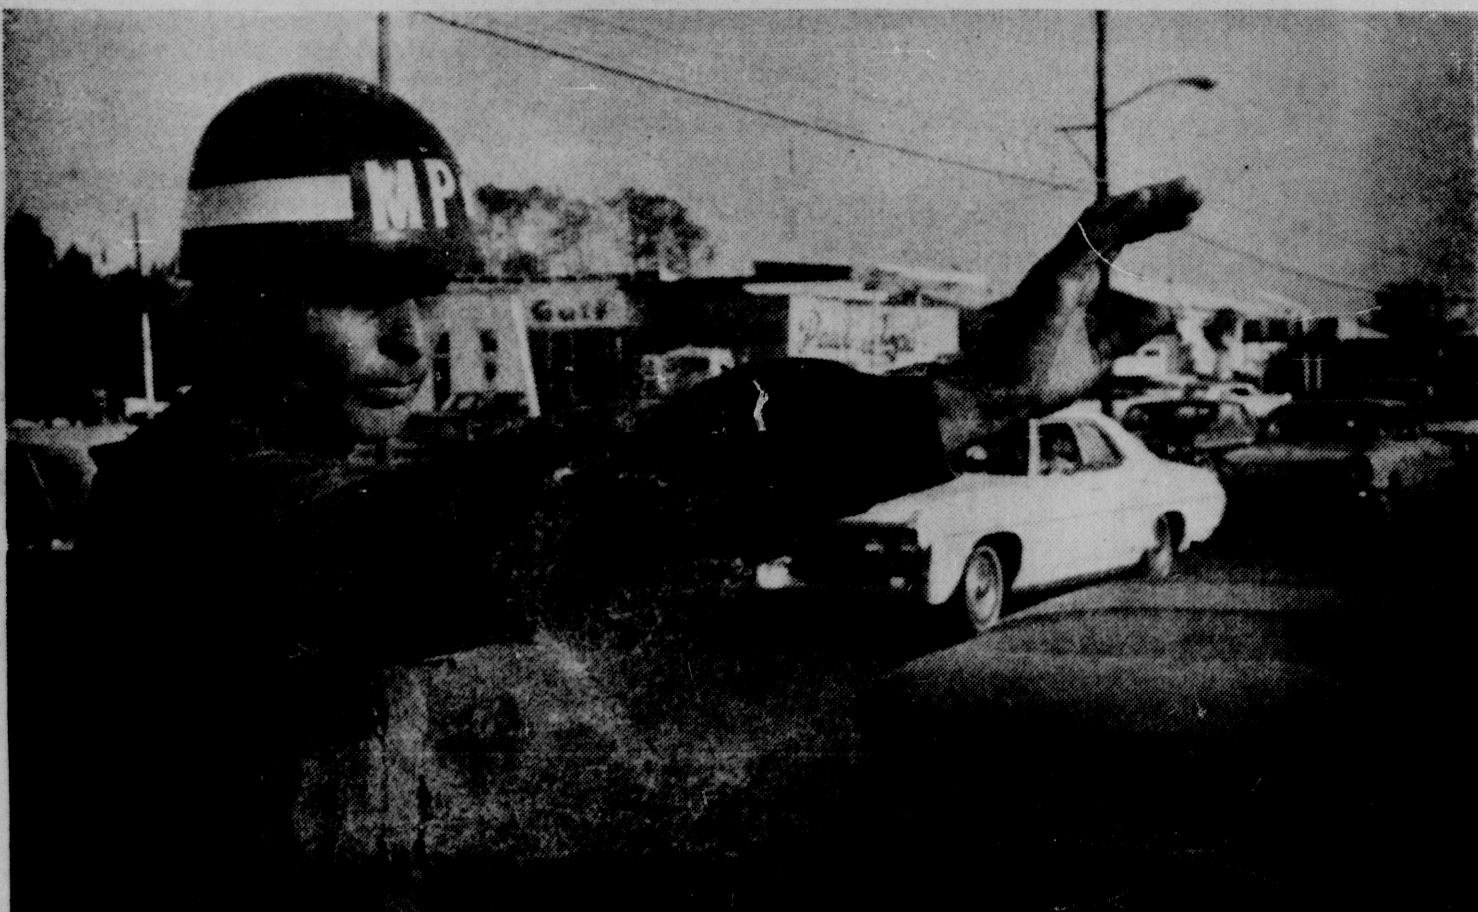

TESTING WATER — Sgt. John Scott tests the chlorine content in water produced by a Fort Benning, Ga., water purification unit operating at the Bay County Elementary School, Biloxi, Miss. The unit, one of four sent into the hurricane-stricken areas from Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Rucker, Ala., can produce 1,500 gallons of pure water an hour. Each unit carries an additional 1,500-gallon tank, giving it a total capacity of 3,000 gallons.

CLEARING A HIGHWAY. A medium tractor, D-7, operated by soldiers of the 818th Engineer Battalion (Combat) clears debris from a town in the Gulfport area, Miss. The rapid opening of roads speeded the evacuation of casualties from the disaster sites.

DEBRIS IS LOADED on trucks by heavy equipment operated by Army National Guardsmen during the aftermath following hurricane Camille. National Guardsmen participated in rescue, security and cleanup operations. In addition, they provided transportation, communication and electric power. The Mississippi National Guard established a refugee center at Camp Shelby, Miss., a facility capable of accommodating 4,000 persons.

AN ARMY NATIONAL GUARDSMAN flashes a stop signal at an intersection in the Gulfport, Miss., area. National Guard Military Police (MP) assisted local law enforcement officials in directing and rerouting traffic in the disaster areas. The presence of MPs on the scene also helped to prevent looting of homes and businesses.

ARMY ENGINEERS of the 818th Engineer Battalion (Combat) clear rubble from a demolished building with a scoop loader shortly after hurricane Camille struck the Gulf coast in Mississippi. The 818th and the 43d Engineer Battalions were among the units from Fort Benning, Ga., rushed to the disaster area. The engineer soldiers were tasked with assisting in the clearing of all roads, bridges and waterways of debris.

Hunters End Visit at Ross Home

50 years ago
November 1, 1919
Mrs. Walter Hunter, accompanied by her son, Walter, Jr., returned Saturday to Jackson, Tenn., after a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Ross.

Myron Watkins has resigned his position with the Farmers. Too much rain and no whiskey to go with it, has given lots of people the dumps.

A source said installation of the equipment is running nearly complex in southeast Missouri the times the expected cost, and costs on the project have three times the expected cost, soared, a Globe-Democrat investigation revealed.

The facility also is several weeks behind schedule and part of the delay is due to featherbedding a source said.

The foreman is steamfitter James A. Michaels Jr., son of half mile to the plant.

The move cost more than it cost to ship the mill from Europe, the source said.

Authorities said he is employed at the $190 million aluminum processing and generating plant complex under construction just south of New Madrid.

Michaels is employed as a foreman by General Installation Co. of Missouri, 950 Kingsland Ave., University City, The Globe-Democrat learned.

The firm is installing equipment in the road and wire mill to be operated by Noranda Manufacturing Ltd., of

VC Document Says Nixon Policy Doomed to Failure

SAIGON (AP) - A Vietnamese document from the Viet Cong high command says President Nixon's plan for gradual disengagement of American forces from Vietnam is doomed to failure, sources disclosed Saturday.

The document, a major policy statement adopted last July by COSVN-Central Office for South Vietnam-calls for a major military, political and diplomatic campaign to ruin Nixon's plans for disengagement and Vietnamization of the war.

The document is now in the hands of allied intelligence officers, but how they obtained it is not known.

The policy statement says Nixon's plan to withdraw American troops while building up South Vietnamese forces will fail for these reasons:

-American troops will become more vulnerable to attack as their number diminishes.

-The U.S. withdrawal will weaken South Vietnamese armed forces to the point of collapse.

-In efforts to minimize casualties, the United States will be forced into an accelerated pullout, thus not allowing enough time for the South

The resolution anticipates the possibility that in the process of redeployment, U.S. forces will suffer heavy casualties that the United States will be forced to seek a political solution to end the war-including a cease-fire. During the long period between the cease-fire and the withdrawal of the last American combat troops, there will be an intense political battle for control of South Vietnam, the resolution says.

The policy statement also cautions that if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese do not apply enough military pressure, the United States will be able to overcome its troubles at least temporarily and prolong the war.

The statement indicated a departure, at least in part, from such previous tactics as attempting to seize Saigon and other major cities.

If You Were the Judge New Suit Reward for Entering Family Row

By Jack Straus, L.L.B.

Mike was no superman. In fact, he probably didn't have much more strength than an onion.

Nevertheless, when he was walking down the street one dark night and came upon a man slapping a woman, he pounced on the attacker. Fortunately, two police officers heard the commotion and arrived in time to rescue Mike before he was seriously injured.

As suit, however, was less fortunate. It was ripped to shreds. And, if that wasn't enough, the attacker turned out to be the woman's husband. Nevertheless, Mike sued the husband for a new suit.

"This little guy's mad," was the husband's answer in court. "First he sticks his two cents into a family quarrel and now he wants me to buy him a new suit. He belongs in a happy home."

"How'd I know it was her husband?" was Mike's answer. "All I knew was that he was slapping her. It seemed that she was in distress and now I'm without a suit. If he wanted to fight with her, he should have done it at home like everyone else."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the husband pay for a new suit for unsung hero Mike?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a wrong that imperils life is a wrong to the imperiled victim and to the victim's rescuer. And, concluded the judge, if the rescuer is injured while in the act of rescue, the wrongdoer is responsible for those injuries.

The primary will be held in March, 1970, and the election in November.

Homing pigeons carried the names of Greek Olympic victors to their home cities. The Roman naturalist Pliny marveled at the immense price and prestige commanded by pigeons: "Nay, they are come to this pass, that they can reckon up their pedigree and race."

The moving of the finishing plant operations from Carmi to Malden will mean an increase in employment of 40 to 70. Exact employment is not available at this time but it estimated at about 350.

Mayor Davis said that no further information is available from the Sterling Division Plant. However, (he said, we are looking forward to the added opportunities that this plant consolidation will bring to Malden and the rest of Southeast Missouri."

Blackwell Says He'll Ignore Plan

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillboro, says he will ignore a request by the Missouri Mental Health Association to abandon his referendum campaign against the income tax bill.
 He called the association's telegram to him Friday propaganda sent at the direction of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.
 He said he had expected his referendum campaign would be attacked on the "motherhood issue—mental health, education, welfare and higher education" and on the grounds that failure of the income tax increase would increase local real estate taxes higher and higher and higher.
 Blackwell said more than 8,000 petition forms have been sent out to volunteer circulators and many have already returned but declined to how many.
 He hopes to have the necessary 60,000 signatures by the end of November and figures the deadline for submitting them to Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick would be Dec. 29.

Mailman Gets Super Sendoff For Retirement

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Anthony Leher rounded out 43 years and five months as a mailman Friday in grand style, with two miniskirted girls totting his bags and cheers at every stop.
 "It was the best run," said the 69-year-old postman who retired with the city's longest service record. "I've always tried to do my job well, but I never realized anyone cared so much about an old mailman."
 To mark the occasion, business men in the city's Bellevue district, where Leher worked most of his 43 years, hired two models to carry his mail bags.
 Leher took the adulation with a bouncy step and a wide grin. As a crowd of admirers moved up one city street, an Firestone, Jr., National elderly woman spotted Leher Chairman of USO, announced and approached the group today that John Donoho, "You be nice to him," she Manager of the Southwestern said, "he's my mailman." LBJ Associates Deny Acting Improperly In Negotiating Federal Land, Cash Grants

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Education and Welfare conveyed most of the old National Fish Hatchery sit to Austin Geriatric Center.
 Johnson associates denies any impropriety in the negotiation of multimillion-dollar grants and loans of federal land and cash shortly before he left the White House.
 The HEW secretary fixed the property's fair market value at $642,000, the deed says. But the corporation received the land free in exchange for "earning a public benefit allowance of 100 per cent of said sum" by meeting conditions set by HEW.
 Austin Geriatric Center, Inc., was chartered by the Texas secretary of state Nov. 20, 1968.
 Frank C. Erwin Jr., president of Austin Geriatric Center Inc., described it as a nonprofit corporation "structured in such a manner that nobody can benefit financially" and said no federal money had yet changed hands.
 Roy A. Butler, a longtime friend of Johnson and a member of the corporation's board of directors, said that "to my knowledge not a dime has been given" in federal funds for the project.
 Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., asserted in a Senate speech Thursday the corporation had figured in a "multimillion-dollar" giveaway sanctioned by the White House and centering on a gift of 25.5 acres of federal land in Austin.
 Williams said $5.5 million in loans and grants also was involved.
 The spokesman for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the department on Oct. 21 had demanded return of the land.
 The spokesman said the action was taken because the corporation had failed to obtain a necessary tax exempt rating for its proposed old peoples and health center for the Treasury Department.
 There was no immediate Treasury Department comment.
 Williams said the land given to the corporation was worth $2 million—not the $642,000 declared by the federal government—and was transferred over the protest of some HEW officials who viewed the deal as a land grab.
 The Delaware Republican also said the corporation received approval for $8 million in Federal Housing Administration loans and nearly $500,000 in grants from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare while Johnson was president.
 "Senator Williams has seen fit to suggest—at least by implication—that there is something improper or unethical about this worthwhile project," Erwin said in a statement Thursday.
 "This is most unfortunate because the project was conceived with nothing but the highest motives and has thus far been carried on in a manner that is above reproach."
 A deed filed with the Travis County clerk Dec. 17, 1968—just over a month before Johnson left the White House—shows the U.S. Department of Health,

Nixon Moves to Lessen U.S. Latin Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has scrapped the ambitious goals of the Alliance for Progress in favor of a policy that will lower substantially the United States profile in Latin America.

Issuing his long-awaited Latin American policy statement Friday night, Nixon said the future United States role in the inter-American alliance will be that of a partner rather than a leader.

Nixon indicated his new policy would treat all Latin governments — democracies and dictatorships alike — as equals.

"We must deal realistically with governments in the inter-American system as they are," he said.

Hijacker Caught in Church

ROME (AP) — The youthful gunman who carried out the world's longest air hijacking from California to Rome — was captured in a little country chapel today, nearly five hours after the hijacked jetliner landed in Rome.

Rome police identified their captive as Rafael Minichiello, who was charged by federal authorities in New York with air piracy, kidnapping and interference with commercial aircraft.

The hijacker had flown 6,900 miles in a five-stage journey across the United States, the Atlantic Ocean and Western Europe.

He was found this morning in the Sanctuary of Divine Love near the Appian Way, about six miles outside Rome, just as 500 policemen were about to give up their manhunt.

At Rome police headquarters, Minichiello was questioned for about 45 minutes by detectives. He emerged looking calm, his hands no longer manacled.

After a meeting with Rome Police Chief Giuseppe Parlato, Silla, vice rector of the sanctuary, said the hijacker stood out in the crowd of 2,000

"Aw, go home."

"Why'd you do it?" a newsman asked.

He turned and said, "Why did I do it? I don't know."

Police said they would continue questioning the youth. A priest at the sanctuary said he signaled the hijacker's presence to police after noticing a young man acting suspiciously during the morning Mass on this Roman Catholic holy day of All Saints Day.

The priest, Don Pasquale Silla, vice rector of the sanctuary, said the hijacker stood out in the crowd of 2,000 because he was wearing a checkered Bermuda shorts.

"Hey paian (countryman)," the youth was quoted as saying, "why are you arresting me?"

The Pentagon said Minichiello is an Italian-born U.S. Marine who was decorated for gallantry in the Vietnam war. His mother lives in Seattle, Wash., and his father lives in Naples. Today is his 20th birthday.

Minichiello, a lance corporal, was listed as AWOL from the Marine Corps Thursday when he failed to appear for face charges at a general court-martial in Camp Pendleton, Calif., the FBI reported. He had been accused of breaking and entering a post exchange at Camp Pendleton.

Trans World Airlines Flight 85 described the hijacker as a gentlemanly madman.

"He seemed to have strong suicidal tendencies," said crew Capt. Donald Cook of New York. "He apparently wanted to come back here and fight somebody and die here."

The youth "claimed he had been cheated by the Marines out of some of his pay," Cook said, "and that in order to get even with them he robbed the PX and was caught and court-martialed and didn't want to go to jail."

The intercontinental drama began at 4:42 a.m. Friday when a young man commandeered the plane en route to San Francisco from Los Angeles and ordered the pilot to fly to New York.

When told there was not enough fuel aboard to make the cross-country flight, the gunman — armed with a rifle — agreed to a refueling stop in Denver, Colo.

At Denver, three stewardesses and the 39 passengers were freed, but three crewmen and a fourth stewardess flew on to New York with the hijacker.

The craft put down for refueling at New York's John F. Kennedy Airport, but the hijacker got jittery and ordered the fueling operation halted. He fired a shot into the ceiling of the cockpit but did not seriously damage the plane. Two supervisory pilots with qualifications for making an overseas flight were added to the crew, and the hijacker ordered an immediate departure.

The Boeing 707 took off for the airport at Bangor, Maine, Shannon, Ireland. It took on more fuel in a 2-minute stopover at Shannon, then continued to Rome.

The young gunman called for the police chief to come aboard the plane unarmed and have a car waiting outside. He seized Pietro Guli, chief of the airport police, and they drove away in a car, followed by another car full of policemen.

When Guli and the hijacker were outside the city, the young man stopped the car and bolted into the dawn-lit countryside.

The priest who called police to the sanctuary said Minichiello almost got away. Don Silla said the first time he alerted two policemen to the youth's presence, they told him his dress did not fit the description and walked away. Only after another priest reported having seen the youth dressed differently earlier did the police take the matter seriously, Don Silla said.

When Minichiello left the church, he was wearing a white shirt and blue trousers. But he earlier was reported wearing plaid Bermuda shorts in the chapel. Some reports said he apparently had taken off his trousers and was wearing undershorts.

Chief Arthur Bruce and Minister in Heated Exchange at Police Station

Police Chief Arthur Bruce charged the minister was and the Rev. Harold Lohrman, "unruly and unreasonable."

Chief Bruce said the Rev. Mr. Lohrman "grabbed me and tore heated exchange last night at the police station after a son of the pastor had been picked up for investigation in connection with soft drink bottles at Bloemer's Grocery, 1056 North Kingshighway.

Chief Bruce said: "He (Pastor Lohrman) came in (the police station) like a bull."

Chief Bruce was asked "Did he attack you?"

The chief replied: "Yes, he did."

Chief Bruce said the pastor also made "pretty astounding statements last night." The chief said Pastor Lohrman was charged with resisting arrest and interfering with a police officer.

The Rev. Mr. Lohrman posted $100 bond last night and is scheduled to appear in city court Thursday night.

Chief Bruce said the pastor "didn't act like a minister" and him he had been indicted told if he had probably nothing but serious would have evolved. "He went out and asked the policeman what the problem was while at Barketts. He said the officer told 'We went to the police station. Chief Bruce and a number of policemen were questioning the boys," the Rev. Mr. Lohrman said.

He said he asked Chief Bruce what the problem was and the chief "got nasty" and inquired the reason for the pastor's presence in a "raised voice."

The minister said he was informed his son would be held until today.

"So I asked the police chief what the charges were and he said they didn't have any and that they were being held on investigation," the minister said.

The pastor said the grocery store owner refused to give a complaint.

Pastor Lohrman said he was told again the juvenile boys would be held overnight for investigation.

"I asked if this was necessary?" the pastor said.

He said the chief answered "Yes," and became "very angry."

"He (the chief) threatened to arrest me and Mrs. Lohrman. I asked on what grounds?" the minister said.

He said Chief Bruce grabbed

his arm and applied a three-quarter Nelson hold.

"He said he was going to throw me in jail," the Rev. Mr. Lohrman added. "He threatened to arrest Mrs. Lohrman and she was just standing there."

Pastor Lohrman said the youth driving was released, but said his son was held overnight with "no charges and no complaint."

The pastor continued: "I used to be a stockade chaplain. I've never seen anything like this in the army. It took 51 years to get arrested, but I finally made it. He (Chief Bruce) had no right to do this. He didn't resist in any way, shape or form. He was going to throw me physically in the clink for asking why he (the pastor's son) was to be held when no complaints" had been signed.

A report at the police station said the pastor's son had to be "bodily brought" to the police station and the father came to the station and proceeded to "create a very unhealthy situation for both boy and father."

He said Chief Bruce grabbed

Prior to the shooting, Myers had gone to the Warren home Thursday between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m., according to the investigating officers. The two men then left to go to East Prairie in Warren's car and at 9:30 p.m. stopped at Dovers tavern near Cairo. The woman who accompanied them was a tavern employee who asked to be taken to her home in Bardwell.

It was after the trio reached the bridge that Myers began to insist that he be taken home first. He produced the pistol, after an argument.

Myers was on parole according to Sheriff Simmons, after being charged with assault in Charleston.

Services for Myers were held today in East Prairie.

Myers' Death Called Suicide

EAST PRAIRIE — David Joe Myers, 25, came to his death when he pulled the trigger of a gun he pointed at his temple while riding in the car of a brother-in-law yesterday.

The 32-caliber pistol, which authorities said he produced, discharged a bullet, which entered near an eye and emerged by an ear.

His death was called a suicide by Coroner Elgin McKie.

Myers, an East Prairie farm laborer, died after a Russian roulette exhibition of gun play in which he pointed the gun at two other persons before turning it on himself with a fatal result.

McKie said that the death was strictly a family affair and there would be no inquest.

According to Sheriff W. J. (Pedro) Simmons, Myers asked a brother-in-law, Wiley Warren, 40, Woodland Mills, near Union City, Tenn., to drive him to East Prairie, to visit his family.

He gave this account after questioning Warren and another passenger in the car:

The two men stopped at a tavern near Cairo, where Myers asked Ann Fithen, Bardwell, Ky., to accompany them.

An argument began as to whether Myers was to be taken to East Prairie or the woman to Bardwell first. Myers drew a pistol.

McKie and the sheriff said the gun had only one shell in it after it was examined.

Myers was reported to have pointed the gun at the woman and pulled the trigger twice and then snapped the trigger after pointing the weapon at his brother-in-law.

Whether Myers believed the gun to be unloaded was not determined. On the fourth attempt he turned the gun to his temple and pulled the trigger, then slumped over in the seat of the car. The shooting occurred at 1:45 a.m. Friday after the three had crossed into Missouri over the Cairo Mississippi river bridge.

Services for Myers were held today in East Prairie.

False Arrest Suit on Scott Circuit Court Civil Docket for November Term

BENTON — A civil suit charging false arrest against Dikesh Webb Jr., chief of the Sikeston fire department, is on the docket for the November term of circuit court. The suit stems from an arrest Webb allegedly made while serving as chief of police at Charleston.

L. D. Joslyn of Charleston, attorney for Mrs. Arvin Lane, who owns a farm near Charleston, said the suit seeks $5,000 in punitive damages from Webb.

Joslyn said the woman was "bodily dragged" from a business place by Webb and four other men. He said Webb wanted to "ask Mrs. Lane questions about 'threatening the life' of an ex-convict, who was in the tavern. He said Mrs. Lane told Webb she would talk 'right there' and she was then forcibly taken from the premises to jail, where he charged she remained 'half the night.'"

Joslyn said his client suffers from a bronchial condition and required hospital confinement after being in jail "without medicine."

Joslyn said his client was later acquitted of an offense stemming from the incident. He said police had "been called" to the tavern because the ex-convict was "fearful" for his life.

Fire Chief Webb refused to comment on the issue this morning, but added he had insurance covering police brutality and false arrest with the National Police Officer's Association.

The incident was reported to have taken place Feb. 17, 1968.

Another suit scheduled against a public official involves Jack Sides, Sikeston, Scott County probate judge, who is

ERODING HOME OWNERSHIP WITH HOUSING SUBSIDIES

Although it is sort of like locking the barn after the horse has been stolen, we note that subsidized low rent public housing is having its impact on the financial problems of county and city governments, and on those remaining private property owners who are fully taxed.

For example, there are 675,000 or more public housing units, and the number is still increasing. Roughly one fourth of these are located in the top 14 cities in terms of population and each city has its proportionate share of the more than 1.5 million children of school age who live in these tax free housing units.

The compensate the local taxing districts, the Federal Housing Act now contributes about $11.00 per child. In New York City the estimated Federal payment for 1967 was $3.6 million, but the estimated expenditure was $76.1 million. The burden of the payment for the difference fell on the owners of private property who are fully taxed.

Now a bill (S.2034) has been introduced in the Senate to contribute $300 annually per low cost housing unit, to the local school districts.

While the effect of this kind of legislation will be to give the local property some relief, a form of discrimination will still exist against the homeowner. He still will be taxed.

Meanwhile the occupant of public housing units is relieved from the element of tax in his housing costs. Where rental income from public housing units is not adequate to pay the operating costs, the federal housing administration steps in and pays the difference. The effect is creating a chaotic condition in private housing. No person in the lower income brackets can afford to own a low cost home. He cannot possibly compete with Uncle Sam as a private home owner, and he is exposed to an added tax burden.

The distorted values have an added impact on substandard housing. The so-called "slum" landlord receives a great deal of blame for housing conditions, not all of which is justified. The cost of maintenance and repairs is all but prohibitive. Even where the landlord goes to expense of rehabilitating a dwelling few tenants have a desire to make an effort to reasonably care for the structure. Some tenants are so destructive that the only defense a landlord has is to make no effort to maintain. As a landlord he is in business competition with subsidized public housing, and, of course, he cannot compete on anywhere even terms.

The housing problem needs a complete reevaluation. Public housing is not producing the housing units needed, and private housing is priced and taxed out of the market.

Even the home owner is placed in the unfortunate position of being required to eye government with suspicion, and mount a constant and almost militant guard for the protection of his home. He is assailed by even higher taxes. Zoning laws which he thought guarded the quality of the neighborhood have become a straightjacket instead. Urban Renewal programs are a potential threat to almost every owner of an older home. The high cost of everything connected with home ownership has hastened the beginning of the shabby look of decay in residential areas. The added burdens of social legislation have a special meaning to the elderly home owner whose debt free dwelling may be his largest single asset.

The impact of public housing on home ownership is not limited to the large metropolitan areas. Single housing units old or new in thousands of small communities can become liabilities for their owners, if the thrust of subsidized public housing continues in its present direction.

Salt in the Wound. In Newark, N. J., when Pedestrian Louis Bergmann sued for $25,000 damages after being struck by an automobile, a jury decided that Bergmann was actually to blame, should pay $40 for the damage to the vehicle.

He added, "The organization of these agencies challenges the most fundamental concept of our governmental system - the separation of powers. The challenge comes because they possess a combination of legislative, executive, and judicial authority, a circular kingdom of power and glory."

He stated that the failure of Congress to spell out its intent exactly has permitted a usurpation of power by the regulatory agencies and a dangerous point of view has been allowed to develop. This point of view sees the administrative agency free to originate its own policies regardless of congressional intent.

The proper task of government regulation is to be fair, expeditious, impartial and consistent within the laws enacted by the Congress. Congress should insist on the retention of all legislative powers and the complete compliance by regulatory agencies of the policies defined in the legislation.

MODERN VERSAILLES They also question how many escalators, dining rooms and hideaway offices are needed at $166 per square foot - five times more than it cost to build the behemoth Rayburn House Office Building, the most expensive office structure in the world, which now stands on Capitol Hill as a monument to congressional self-indulgence, lack of taste and lack of propriety.

Part of the staggering price for extending the west front will go to the architects - a combine that includes not only Roscoe DeWitt, Alfred Easton Poor and Jesse Shelton, but also Albert Homer Swanke, Fred Hardison and Alan Stanford.

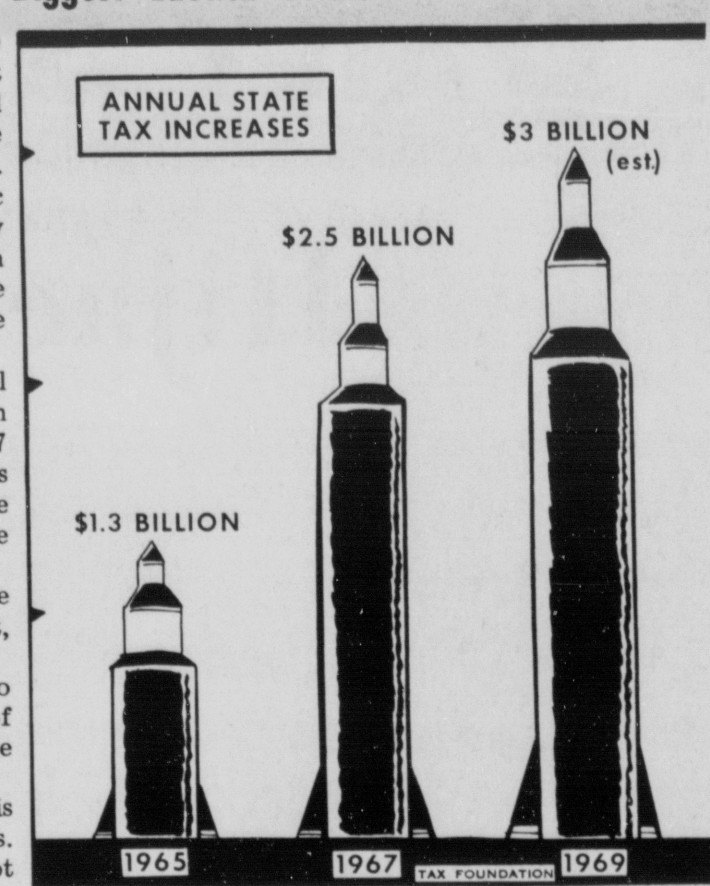

Campioli was a valued employee of DeWitt, Poor and Shelton from 1957 to 1959. Poor, DeWitt and Swanke also endorsed Campioli's 1962 bid to become a Fellow. A confidential memo from the Capitol Architects' office shows how these names weave in and out of multi-million dollar Capitol Hill contracts.

The architects for the $90 million James Madison Memorial Library, for example, include DeWitt, Poor, Shelton and A. P. Almond, yet another backer of the Campioli bid as an AIA Fellow. The architects' fee for preliminary planning, according to the confidential memo, is $435,000. It may go as high as $4 million when the library is built.

On the Rayburn Building's underground garages, Shelton and Swanke are listed in the memo as getting $654,000. DeWitt turns up again as an architect who split the $924,472 fee for remodeling the Cannon House Office Building.

Let's not be naive. Every Communist-line and fellow-traveling organization in America was busting its buttons for the moratorium. Even as the marchers marched the North Vietnamese delegates bluntly told the wives of American prisoners that they wouldn't see their husbands until the last American soldier had been withdrawn and they advised the girls to go home and join the demonstrations.

IN AMERICA there are two schools of thought about Vietnam. One is the "withdrawal with honor" school, "honor" being a rubber word capable of many shapes and dimensions. The second is the "withdrawal-period" school. Thieu and Ky have no Taiwan. This is surrender. This is bug-out in the holy name of Peace.

The moratorium of Oct. 15 was bug-out day. It was designed to give tongue to those who demand either an abandonment of the war tomorrow or a swift timetable of pullback. The college generation doesn't remember that every left-wing war.

The idea that war is merely the product of misunderstanding was clung to by Neville and the Orient after V-J day in Chamberlain. He gave away the Sudetenland and the Polish Communists did in Central Europe and China during the next three years a lot easier.

ON MORATORIUM Day John Lindsay draped the New York City Hall in black and fought with his police over whether all flags should go to half-staff. At the trial in Chicago of those charged with rioting during Democratic convention Dave Dellinger, the Yippie leader, unfolded a large Viet Cong Flag on the defense table for anybody, particularly contemptuously caused the presiding judge "mister" and tried to read the names of all the war dead.

In Paris, Actress Joanne Woodward got in the papers by wearing a gold medallion inscribed "War is not healthy for children and other living things." That's right. That was true, also, about the battles with the Philistines, the Revolutionary War and the struggle against Hitler.

In Washington Mrs. Martin Luther King said the war had destroyed the hopes of black and poor Americans. Presumably, we owe it to the "disadvantaged" to surrender quickly in Vietnam.

WE HEARD a lot of oratory on Moratorium Day about the corruption of the government of Thieu and Ky, about the lack of true democracy in the tangled politics of South Vietnam. We didn't hear much, if anything, however, about the kind of government the late Mr. Ho put together or why the refugees all went one way.

If the United States would promise not to come to the aid of any government in any "emerging" country that wasn't a perfect democracy we'd, of course, come to the aid of none. Expanding a unilateral bug-out in Vietnam to a worldwide policy would make it pretty simple for the boys who understand the technique of systematically assassinating village chiefs in "nations" where the prime minister may be an ex-witch doctor and the people have only the foggiest idea of nationhood.

THERE is also the little matter of what happens to those who believe our promises. If you take the position that nothing much will happen you have to believe either that that was all moonshine about Ho Chi Minh liquidating 50,000 North Vietnamese who might have embarrassed his regime, or that Ho's successor's will settle for peaceful re-education of the misled.

If you don't swallow either you will have to choose between standing by while there is a general throat-cutting or accepting a million refugees. Thieu and Ky have no Taiwan. This is surrender. This is bug-out in the holy name of Peace.

If you don't swallow either you will have to choose between standing by while there is a general throat-cutting or accepting a million refugees. Thieu and Ky have no Taiwan. This is surrender. This is bug-out in the holy name of Peace.

The moratorium of Oct. 15 was bug-out day. It was designed to give tongue to those who demand either an abandonment of the war tomorrow or a swift timetable of pullback. The college generation doesn't remember that every left-wing war.

The idea that war is merely the product of misunderstanding was clung to by Neville and the Orient after V-J day in Chamberlain. He gave away the Sudetenland and the Polish Communists did in Central Europe and China during the next three years a lot easier.

ON MORATORIUM Day John Lindsay draped the New York City Hall in black and fought with his police over whether all flags should go to half-staff. At the trial in Chicago of those charged with rioting during Democratic convention Dave Dellinger, the Yippie leader, unfolded a large Viet Cong Flag on the defense table for anybody, particularly contemptuously caused the presiding judge "mister" and tried to read the names of all the war dead.

In Paris, Actress Joanne Woodward got in the papers by wearing a gold medallion inscribed "War is not healthy for children and other living things." That's right. That was true, also, about the battles with the Philistines, the Revolutionary War and the struggle against Hitler.

In Washington Mrs. Martin Luther King said the war had destroyed the hopes of black and poor Americans. Presumably, we owe it to the "disadvantaged" to surrender quickly in Vietnam.

WE HEARD a lot of oratory on Moratorium Day about the corruption of the government of Thieu and Ky, about the lack of true democracy in the tangled politics of South Vietnam. We didn't hear much, if anything, however, about the kind of government the late Mr. Ho put together or why the refugees all went one way.

If the United States would promise not to come to the aid of any government in any "emerging" country that wasn't a perfect democracy we'd, of course, come to the aid of none. Expanding a unilateral bug-out in Vietnam to a worldwide policy would make it pretty simple for the boys who understand the technique of systematically assassinating village chiefs in "nations" where the prime minister may be an ex-witch doctor and the people have only the foggiest idea of nationhood.

THERE is also the little matter of what happens to those who believe our promises. If you take the position that nothing much will happen you have to believe either that that was all moonshine about Ho Chi Minh liquidating 50,000 North Vietnamese who might have embarrassed his regime, or that Ho's successor's will settle for peaceful re-education of the misled.

Eighteen From Sikeston
Study At Memphis State

MEMPHIS - Eighteen students from Sikeston, Mo., are among the more than 17,700 students enrolled for fall semester classes at Memphis State University.

This large enrollment, which has more than tripled in the last ten years and more than doubled in the last five years, includes students from 38 foreign countries and 42 of the 50 states plus the District of Columbia. In addition, 81 of Tennessee's 95 counties are represented by students enrolled at Memphis State.

As the University continues its rapid growth, a more intense effort is being made to work with the student body in "units of one." To reach this end of the University College was put into operation to help in a student's orientation to college life during his freshman and sophomore years. The University Counseling Center, staffed by a number of highly trained psychologists and guidance counselors, is also maintained to make the student's adjustment a more successful one.

The campus physical plant is also growing in proportion to the enrollment. Currently under construction is an engineering building, a mathematics and modern languages facility, two psychology units, a journalism building, a two-unit business administration complex, a physical education facility, an information center, an athletic dressing facility and 126 townhouse apartments for married students. The value of these projects is estimated at $16 million.

Attending Memphis State this semester are: Mickey Sue Bass of 312 Matthews, Mary Catherine Campagna of 917 Hawthorne, Deborah Kay Couch of 909 Hawthorne, Albert Lee Cox of 777 Park, James Hal Gofrey of 203 W. The French-owned Panama Canal Company was the first to attempt building a canal across the Isthmus of Panama. Under Ferdinand de Lesseps, the company had begun construction of the canal as a commercial venture in 1881 but had failed to finish the job.

PRESCRIPTION PRICES

How are prescription prices determined? We have a policy in this matter, the only one we can follow. We do not offer bargains in prescriptions - there is no cut-rate way to health. Nor do we pretend to under-sell. Prescription prices simply are determined by the cost of the ingredients and operating expense. The prices we charge are as low as satisfactory service and effective drugs will allow.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Beatles records and a black poodle pup are more exciting now for 13-year-old Kimberly Agnew than antiwar black armbands, Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew says.

Mrs. Agnew was asked at a news conference Friday about the dispute that occurred when the vice president refused to let his daughter wear an armband Oct. 15, the national antiwar day.

"That's forgotten as of now - it was one of those things - it's from one thing to another as far as 13- or 14-year-old teenagers are concerned. The next day she was playing her Beatles record backward to see if Paul McCartney was alive and had left a message," Mrs. Agnew said.

(Teen-agers were intrigued recently by rumors that Beatle McCartney was dead but could be heard saying, "Turn me on, dead man," if the Beatles' surrealistic "Revolution No. 9" were played backwards.)

"Right now she has a new puppy (a black poodle) and she is interested in what he is doing," Mrs. Agnew said.

She said her daughter wanted to wear a black armband Oct. 15 to her ninth grade classes at National Cathedral School "because some of her friends were wearing black armbands."

Kimberly, she said, took three pages of notes as the vice president told her the background of United States' involvement in Vietnam.

Mrs. Agnew was here to present "Tops 'n Texas" awards to four women selected by Texas Republican Women for outstanding community service.

THE POWER of FAITH

WOODI ISHMAE

People with a deep, abiding faith can be found in every positive activity of life. From the humblest work to the greatest achievements, man lives by faith.

Jesus Segura escaped from Cuba in 1959. He is a third generation circus performer, his father and grandfather before him having been acrobats and clowns. And Jesus, like them, has dedicated his life to giving other people pleasure and entertainment. At great risk Jesus returned to Cuba in 1965 and got his mother, father and sister out, bringing the family together again to carry on the tradition. Now a U.S. citizen, he and his wife and daughter Patricia, who works with him, travel with the Clyde Beatty, Cole Brothers Circus.

Before he goes on at every performance he offers a silent prayer of guidance. Recently he fell 40 feet and broke his arm at the elbow and wrist. He said, "It takes faith to go back and work

Throop Leads Homecoming Win

By DAVID McCLARTY
SIKESTON — Quarterback selected as the Homecoming Ed Throop paced the Sikeston queen by the football team and Bulldogs back into the victory was crowned at the ceremonies column at Public School following the game in the Senior Stadium last night, passing for High School Cafeteria. Jan three touchdowns in a 26-0 Sargent and Julie Crader were Homecoming victory over chosen alternates to the queen, Jackson Indians.

Portageville Wins

PORTAGEVILLE — Coach Jim McKay's Bulldogs defeated the Delta C-7 Chargers here last night by 46-12. This raised the Bulldogs record to 4-4 for the season while Deering remained winless. Portageville took full control as the Chargers were unable to score in the second half. Ken Shumate went across for the Bulldogs first score on a five yard run with the extra point failing. In the second period Mike Barnes passed to Randy Long for 50 yards and a T.D. Stowell Hobbs went in for the two point conversion. The second score was on a safety of which Johnny Huck tackled Paul Scott in his own endzone for two points. The third score was again a pass to Randy Long from Mike Barnes this time for 30 yards with Lenza Killion running for the two point conversion to make the score at half 24-0.

Portageville's Stowell Hobbs scored on a 3 yard run for the first score of the second half. Lenza Killion again took it in for two points. Rick Foster ran 7 yards for the Bulldogs and he also scored the two point conversion. The first score for the Chargers was a 50 yard pass from Paul Scott to Kevin Williams. The score at the end of the third quarter stood at 40-6.

The fourth showed Deering scoring first on a pass as Paul Scott hit Randal Vaughn for a 30 yard touchdown. For the Bulldogs Randy Long went in from 7 yards out making for the final score of 46-12.

Portageville will travel to Hayti for a Division match. Deering will be idle next week, but in two weeks will be playing at Luxora, Ark.

period touchdown to Mike Shafer, for 32 yards, as the Bulldogs were on their way to rebounding from the 24-7 loss at Cape last week. This touchdown was set up by a fumble recovery by Adolph Prince after Jackson's second play.

Charlie Dye came up with the big run of the night as he broke loose for a 70 yard touchdown in the second period of play. Jerry Taylor added the extra point to make the score at intermission 13-0.

After talking it over, both teams came back and slowed strong defenses as neither team was able to score. Sikeston's defense was led by Mike Harris and Adolph Prince as they teamed to help stop the Indians attack.

In the fourth period of play Sikeston came back to put on the finishing touches with Throop passing for two touchdowns. Mike Shafer, who was pass catching as much as he was running, pulled in the first one from 8 yards out. The kick by Jerry Taylor was wide moving the score to 19-0.

Sikeston ended up with five interceptions with two of these being picked off by senior defensive end Larry Lawrence. The second interception set up the final touchdown from 11 yards out. Larry Lawrence was the target as Throop threaded the needle to hit him in the endzone. Jerry Taylor added the extra point to make for the final score of 26-0.

Sikeston this week went with the two platoon system as boys were moved in and out with the exchange of the football. Dave Dollar played at defensive guard along with Charley Johnson a one of the tackles. Chester Yerber started at the fullback position as Turner Marshall was playing linebacker. Adolph Prince and Mike Harris were the defensive tackles for the game as they usually go both ways. It proved to work as the Sikeston eleven hardly got tired as they scored twice in the fourth. Also this system lets some boys who are going to be playing next year get some experience.

Throop passed for 121 yards and three touchdowns as he had good protection to have time to find his receivers. The running game showed Charlie Dye leading the attack as Sikeston gained 168 yards on the ground. Jackson rushed for 108 yards, most of this coming in the second half. Sikeston was on the lower end in the first down department as Jackson had 8 to the Bulldogs 6. Again the final score was 26-0.

Sikeston will be idle this next week, but will be preparing for the Poplar Bluff game in two weeks. To win this encounter the Bulldogs will have to stop Hosie Moss as he has scored 5 touchdowns in each of his last two games.

TURNER MARSHALL (32) the big fullback for Sikeston, plows through Jackson's Stanley Bowers (62) in the Sikeston's Homecoming game last night. Coming to help out are Jerry Taylor (71), Dave Dollar (65), and Jerry Ogles (80). Sikeston won the Northern Division contest, 26-0.

CHAFFEE — Charlie Vickrey passed for two touchdowns as he led the Red Devils to a 28-0 win over the Dexter Bearcats. This raised the Red Devil's record to 7-1 overall and 4-1 in their Division.

PERRYVILLE — St. Vincents of Perryville defeated the Illmo-Scott City Rams by 34-0 here last night as the Rams ended its season with a loss.

Mike Schnurbusch scored the first touchdown as he plunged in from the one yard line. Dan Hotop kicked for the extra point. In the second period of play Cliff McCune took the ball in from the one yard line again with Hotop adding the extra point.

In the second Half Schnurbusch hauled in a Larry Winkler pass for a 20 yard pass play. Winkler then hit McCune for the two point conversion. The second score of the third period was a run by Joe Huffman for the touchdown. In the fourth Kent Nelson went in from two yards out to make for the final score of 34-0.

This ended prep play for the Rams as they finished the season with a 2-6 overall record. The two wins were Divisional and they held a part of the Bootheel Conference.

1st score, after a drive from their own 45 yard line. Mike Ballard added the extra point to make the score 7-0 at the end of the first period.

In the second quarter both of Chaffee's touchdowns came off of interceptions being run back all the way. Mike Ballard picked off the first one as he ran it back 32 yards for the score. Steve Rogers got the second one and took it for 35 yards and the score. Charlie Vickrey ran for the two point conversion on the first T.D. and Ballard kicked for the second one to make the score at half 22-0.

The only score of the second half was a Charlie Vickrey pass to Steve Duniphan and the kick failed making the final score 28-0.

Passing prevailed for the Red Devil's as Vickrey passed for 187 yards of the 232 yards total. Dexter was held to just 11 yards in the first half, but came back in the second half to get 85 as Chaffee was letting the bench see some action. Chaffee led in first downs as they got nine to Dexter's eight.

Next week Chaffee will host Caruthersville in their Homecoming game. Dexter will be traveling to Kennett for a non-loop conference game.

Lilbourn...Tourney Champs

PARMA — The Daily Standard's 1967-68 "Rookie Coach of the Year," Larry Warren, is making an early bid for coach of the year honors as he coached his Lilbourn Panther junior varsity squad to the championship of the Parma invitational basketball tournament here last night.

Warren, who won the award last season while a varsity coach at Zalma, is an assistant in the Lilbourn system this season under Ted Mauk and handles the junior varsity.

Lilbourn completely dominated a game, racing to an early 8-0 lead behind an explosive fast break and a tough defense, the Panthers controlled the smaller Parma quintet on the rebounds and streaked to a 75-44 title win.

Clarkton had claimed third place honors in the opening game of the evening as Stoelting led the Reinder to a 43-31 win over Richland, scoring 20 points.

Parma's defense failed to contain the Panthers big center, 6-3 Blair, who poured in 26 points and grabbed off 21 rebounds over the host.

Crews and Miller shared scoring honors for the Pirates, netting 12 points each.

In the consolation battle, Clarkton rolled up a 12-7 first quarter lead and never trailed, out-scoring Richland in every quarter. Smart scored 12 points in leading the Rebels.

Poplar Bluff - Woods industries in full swing. There is a shortage of sawmill workers.

Sikeston - Farm labor demands dwindle with little supply of applicants to fill remaining orders. Cotton harvest now estimated 70% completed and soybean harvest about 60% completed. First inquiries coming in concerning citrus harvest. Expect supply to be very limited and primarily for pre-committed groups.

Farm Labor Information Station and Rest Camp, Route No. 2, Sikeston. The Camp served 690 migrants during the week ending October 24, 1969. All were enroute to the following States: Indiana 191, Michigan 195, and Ohio 304.

Eagleton Joins in Farm Bill

WASHINGTON - Senator Eagleton today joined 12 of his colleagues in introducing a new Agricultural Stabilization Act to succeed the present farm program which expires in 1970.

Senator Eagleton said, "This legislation represents more than the personal efforts of a few Senators who are concerned about the future of American agriculture. It represents the judgment of 22 major farm organizations as to the kind of farm program which will help assure American farmers a fair return in the marketplace."

"After nine months in office, the Administration has yet to come forth with concrete proposals for necessary improvements in the farm program, so it is up to us to act," said Eagleton. "This Coalition bill will surely be modified and refined in the months ahead as a result of committee testimony and Senate debate, but it represents a major and constructive step in the direction of more rational and fairer farm programs."

Some of the bill's provisions: Cotton. Under the bill introduced today, the cotton program would remain unchanged.

Wheat. The bill provides authority for export certificates between 90 and 65 per cent of parity. It limits the amount "projected yield" can be adjusted as a result of natural disasters, and provides that one-half of wheat certificate value can be paid at time of sign-up.

Soybeans. The bill would also authorize an acreage diversion program for soybeans when total soybean stocks as of August 31 exceed 150 million bushels for 15 per cent of the previous utilization, whichever is less. On the basis of 1969 stocks, this would mean a diversion of two to three million acres of soybeans in 1970.

Consumer protection reserves. The bill provides for three types of reserves to be held respectively by the Commodity Credit Corporation, by producers under an extended loan program, and by producers under three-year extended loan agreements. CCC sales for unrestricted domestic use would be prohibited at less than parity if stocks were below reserve levels.

"All you hear about is war. Where is God?"

We've hardly known a time when there wasn't war, or rumor of war.

And with the difficult ideological problems of today's world, the issue of war versus peace is more complicated than ever.

One thing is certain. God is impartial in his caring for peace.

But how do you search for peace—in yourself, and in the world?

You may find some surprising approaches developing in your church or synagogue.

And with your help, your place of worship can, after all, become an important voice in establishing our country's moral position in matters that profoundly affect every one of us.

You're only one person, it's true. But you don't have to be alone in your beliefs.

And it's beliefs like yours that can change the world.

SKILLED ARMY RESCUE FORCES ANSWER THE CALL

—Hurricane Camille—

MISSISSIPPI NATIONAL GUARDSMEN carry a patient, evacuated from a hospital in devastated Gulfport, down the ramp of a cargo aircraft. Army National Guard units, called to state active duty, assisted civil authorities in the evacuation of more than 700 patients from Veterans Administration hospitals in Gulfport and Biloxi, Miss. Approximately 3,100 Army National Guardsmen from four states (Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Virginia) were on the scene to help.

A STRANDED FLOOD VICTIM is hustled to an Army helicopter for evacuation from a storm-torn area in Nelson County, Va. Army helicopter pilots, accompanied by medical teams from Davison Army Airfield, Fort Belvoir, Va., continuously landed on mountain tops, valley floors and in creek beds to rescue stranded people whose homes were battered by flash floods brought on by hurricane Camille.

MANNING RADIOS and other communications equipment, Army National Guardsmen aided coordination of the massive relief operations at this Civil Defense Headquarters near Gulfport, Miss., in Harrison County. The Army provided communications personnel and equipment to support the Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) in Thomasville, Ga., and dispatched six communications teams to support the OEP field office in Gulfport.

TESTING WATER — Sgt. John Scott tests the chlorine content in water produced by a Fort Benning, Ga., water purification unit operating at the Bay County Elementary School, Biloxi, Miss. The unit, one of four sent into the hurricane-stricken areas from Fort Benning, Ga., and Fort Rucker, Ala., can produce 1,500 gallons of pure water an hour. Each unit carries an additional 1,500-gallon tank, giving it a total capacity of 3,000 gallons.

CLEARING A HIGHWAY. A medium tractor, D-7, operated by soldiers of the 818th Engineer Battalion (Combat) clears debris from a town in the Gulfport area, Miss. The rapid opening of roads speeded the evacuation of casualties from the disaster sites.

DEBRIS IS LOADED on trucks by heavy equipment operated by Army National Guardsmen during the aftermath following hurricane Camille. National Guardsmen participated in rescue, security and cleanup operations. In addition, they provided transportation, communication and electric power. The Mississippi National Guard established a refugee center at Camp Shelby, Miss., a facility capable of accommodating 4,000 persons.

AN ARMY NATIONAL GUARDSMAN flashes a stop signal at an intersection in the Gulfport, Miss., area. National Guard Military Police (MP) assisted local law enforcement officials in directing and rerouting traffic in the disaster areas. The presence of MPs on the scene also helped to prevent looting of homes and businesses.

ARMY ENGINEERS of the 818th Engineer Battalion (Combat) clear rubble from a demolished building with a scoop loader shortly after hurricane Camille struck the Gulf coast in Mississippi. The 818th and the 43d Engineer Battalions were among the units from Fort Benning, Ga., rushed to the disaster area. The engineer soldiers were tasked with assisting in the clearing of all roads, bridges and waterways of debris.

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard, (Acts 4:20)

VC Document Says Nixon Policy Doomed to Failure

SAIGON (AP) — A Vietnamese document to build up to full strength.

—If Nixon does not speed up the withdrawal of U.S. troops, antiwar demonstrations will increase, straining relations between Washington and the Saigon government to the breaking point.

The document, a major policy statement adopted last July by COSVN—Central Office for South Vietnam—calls for a major military, political and diplomatic campaign to ruin Nixon's plans for disengagement and Vietnamization of the war.

The document is now in the hands of allied intelligence officers, but how they obtained it is not known.

The policy statement says Nixon's plans to withdraw American troops while building up South Vietnamese forces will fail for these reasons:

—American troops will become more vulnerable to attack as their number diminishes.

—The U.S. withdrawal will weaken South Vietnamese armed forces to the point of collapse.

—In efforts to minimize casualties, the United States will be forced into an accelerated pullout, thus not allowing enough time for the South

If You Were the Judge New Suit Reward for Entering Family Row

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.

Mike was no superman. In fact, he probably didn't have much more strength than an onion.

Nevertheless, when he was walking down the street one dark night and came upon a man slapping a woman, he pounced on the attacker. Fortunately, two police officers heard the commotion and arrived in time to rescue Mike before he was seriously injured.

His suit, however, was less fortunate. It was ripped to shreds. And, if that wasn't enough, the attacker turned out to be the woman's husband. Nevertheless, Mike sued the husband for a new suit.

"This little guy's mad," was the husband's answer in court. "First he sticks his two cents into a family quarrel and now he wants me to buy him a new suit. He belongs in a happy home."

"How'd I know it was her husband?" was Mike's answer. "All I knew was that he was slapping her. If he wanted to fight with her, he should have done it at home like everyone else."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the husband pay for a new suit for unsung hero Mike?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a wrong that imperils life is a wrong to the imperiled victim and to the victim's rescuer. And, concluded the judge, if the rescuer is injured while in the act of rescue, the wrongdoer is responsible for those injuries.

Stevenson Joins Lease of Senate Race Sterling Extended

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson III has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator.

Stevenson's late father was the city council meeting Monday night an extension of the lease Democratic nominee for the President and a U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. The building will be utilized as a warehouse and another before being selected state building now, being leased by treasurer in 1966. He is not eligible to succeed himself as department.

The moving of the finishing plant operations from Carmi to Sterling will mean an increase in employment of 40 to 70. Exact employment is not available at this time but it estimated at about 350.

Mayor Davis said that no further information is available from the Sterling Division Plant. However, (he said, we are looking forward to the added opportunities that this plant consolidation will bring to Malden and the rest of Southeast Missouri."

Ex-Convict Foreman on New Madrid Project, Costs Soar

NEW MADRID - A St. Louis foreman on a project in operations soon.

A source said installation of the equipment is running nearly three times the expected cost, soared, a Globe-Democrat investigation revealed.

The facility also is several weeks behind schedule and part of the delay is due to featherbedding a source said.

The foreman is steamfitter James A. Michaels Jr., son of James A. (Jimmy) Michaels, also an ex-convict.

Authorities said he is employed at the $190 million aluminum processing and generating plant complex under construction just south of New Madrid.

Michaels is employed as a foreman by General Installation Co., of Missouri, 950 Kingsland Ave., University City, The Globe-Democrat learned.

The firm is installing equipment in the road and wire mill to be operated by Noranda Manufacturing Ltd., of Work weeks of 58 hours have been common along with pay checks of $350 to $450 a week, another source said.

The president of General Installation, Myron Glassberg, refused to comment.

While other unions have been involved in the featherbedding, the main "bottleneck" has been Steamfitters Local 562 the source said.

Local 562 obtained jurisdiction at the complex last June when it merged with Local 318 of Cape Girardeau.

New Madrid City Hall records indicate a "Jim Michaels" moved to a trailer court at the rear of a tavern on the outskirts of town in August.

Michaels was sent to federal prison in 1965 for failure to produce proper records for his cocktail lounge at 4215 Hampton ave.

The $6 million rod and wire mill is a relatively small part of the overall complex which will include an aluminum reduction plant also operated by Noranda and a generating plant to be operated by Associated Electric Co-operative of Missouri.

The complex is financed by a revenue bond issue by New Madrid which then will lease the facilities to Noranda and Associated.
